Contributors	ix
1. Thymocyte selection: From signaling to epigenetic regulation	1
Jun Lyu, Lie Wang, and Linrong Lu
1. Introduction	2
2. TCR signaling during thymocyte selection	3
3. Gene expression profiling during positive selection	12
4. Epigenetic regulation	17
Acknowledgments	19
References	19
2. B cell mechanosensing: A mechanistic overview	23
Samina Shaheen, Zhengpeng Wan, Kabeer Haneef, Yingyue Zeng, Wang Jing, and Wanli Liu
1. The initiation of B cell activation	24
2. Mechanosensing	25
3. Substrate stiffness regulates B cell activation	28
4. B cells exert and sense the mechanical forces	33
5. Regulation of B cell mechanosensing through motor proteins	35
6. Substrate stiffness regulates B cell proliferation, differentiation and antibody responses	36
7. Integrin as a potential mechanosensor	39
8. BCR signaling dependent B cell mechanosensing	42
9. Role of FAK in B cell mechanical force sensing	44
10. Pathological significance of mechanosensing	47
11. Role of B cell mechanosensing in autoimmune disease	47
Acknowledgments	50
Conflict of interest disclosure	50
References	50
3. Ionic protein-lipid interactions at the plasma membrane regulate the structure and function of immunoreceptors	65
Hua Li, Chengsong Yan, Jun Guo, and Chenqi Xu
1. Introduction	66
2. General relevance of juxtamembrane polybasic regions and membrane-snorkeling basic residue in immunoreceptors	67

---

3. Membrane insertion of immunoreceptor functional sites	68
4. Dissociation of immunoreceptor functional sites from the membrane	74
5. Concluding remarks	81
Acknowledgments	82
References	82
4. Non-canonical Hippo signaling regulates immune responses	87
Lanfen Chen
1. Hippo signaling and immune homeostasis	88
2. Hippo signaling in T lymphocytes	92
3. Hippo signaling in innate immune cells	101
4. Conclusion	113
Reference	114
5. Molecular mechanisms of T helper 17 cell differentiation: Emerging roles for transcription cofactors	121
Yu Jiang, Xiaohu Wang, and Chen Dong
1. Introduction	122
2. TRIM28: An essential epigenetic activator in Th17 cells downstream of IL-6	134
3. TRIM33 regulates the proinflammatory activity of Th17 cells	137
4. SRC-3 regulates ROR $\gamma$ t activity in Th17 cells	141
5. Conclusions and perspectives	144
Acknowledgments	145
Author contributions	145
Reference	145
6. T cell immune response within B-cell follicles	155
Qizhao Huang, Lifan Xu, and Lilin Ye
1. Introduction	156
2. Follicular helper T cell	157
3. Follicular regulatory T cells (Tfr)	160
4. Follicular cytotoxic CD8 + T cells (Tfc)	162
5. Conclusion and perspectives	165
Acknowledgments	167
Conflict of interest disclosure	167
References	167

7. Autoimmune diseases in China	173
Ru Li, Xing Sun, Xu Liu, Yue Yang, and Zhanguo Li
1. Rheumatoid arthritis	174
2. Systemic lupus erythematosus	183
3. Sjögren's syndrome	189
4. Other autoimmune diseases	198
References	203
8. Understanding tumor-infiltrating lymphocytes by single cell RNA sequencing	217
Xianwen Ren and Zemin Zhang
1. Introduction	218
2. A brief survey of single-cell sequencing technology and related data analysis	219
3. STARTRAC: A computational framework to quantify dynamics of T cells from snapshot scRNA-seq data	223
4. Characteristics of tumor-infiltrating T cells in hepatocellular carcinoma	227
5. Characteristics of tumor-infiltrating T cells in lung cancer	233
6. Characteristics of tumor-infiltrating T cells in colorectal cancer	236
7. Discussions and conclusions	240
Acknowledgments	243
Competing interests	243
